Crochet Studio: What's New in Version 23

Thank you for testing! This update is built around what you told us. It fixes the problems you ran into, and adds a few things many of you asked for.

How to get it: open Crochet Studio and tap Refresh when the "New version ready" bubble appears. If you don't see it, close the app fully and open it again. To check, go to Settings: the bottom of the list should say test version 23.

Your products, materials, markets and sales stay exactly as they are.

You'll see a "What's new" message the first time you open the app after updating. You can read this page again any time in Settings → What's new. The Tester guide (Settings → Tester guide) has been updated too, with notes on country and currency, Square, tags and the spreadsheet import.

Fixed from your feedback

- Delete a market. Plans change! Open the market, tap Details, then Delete market. Anything you'd packed for it goes back into your available stock. If you already recorded sales at that market, the app checks with you first and keeps those sales in Reports, so your totals stay right.
- Fast tapping + and − no longer zooms the screen on iPhone and iPad. Tap as quickly as you like and every tap counts. Pinch-to-zoom still works where you need it, like on patterns.
- Choose your country and currency. New in Settings → Country & currency: pick Canada (CAD) or the United States (USD). The whole app uses that currency, and Square charges in it too, so US Square accounts now work. Before this, US accounts got an "invalid request" error from Square.
- Clearer message when Square doesn't open. If Square doesn't open within a few seconds (usually because the Square Point of Sale app isn't installed or signed in on that device), the app now tells you what to do. It no longer asks whether the payment went through.
- Pop-up messages fit the screen. Long words and codes no longer run off the edge.

New in Reports

- Fold sections away. Tap any section heading to minimize it, and tap again to open it. The app remembers which sections you had open, so Reports looks the same next time.
- Materials on hand. A new section shows the total value of your materials, plus the value of each category (yarn, eyes, stuffing and so on). It starts minimized. It counts materials that have Track remaining stock turned on, because those are the ones the app knows how much is left of.
- Download your reports. Save a report as a PDF (good for printing or your records) or a CSV (opens in Excel or Google Sheets). Pick all time, any time frame, or a single market.

New in Products

- Categories are now tags, and a product can have more than one. A bunny can be tagged both Plushies and Easter, and it shows under each tag on the Products page. It's still one product: the stock count, price and sales are shared, so nothing is counted twice. Your existing categories become tags automatically. Search finds products by tag too.
- Tag several products at once. Open a tag on Products and tap Add products. A list of all your products appears, with a search bar; tick the ones you want and tap Add. No need to open each product one by one.

New in Patterns

- Your pattern stays open. If you're working from a pattern and switch away (say, to ring up a sale at a market), it's still open on the same page, at the same zoom, when you tap Patterns again. That works even if you close the app.
- "I stopped here" marker. Tap the marker button, then tap the spot on the page where you stopped. Next time you open that pattern, the marker shows you where you were. It fades away by itself once you touch or scroll the pattern. The marker doesn't change your PDF, and if you have an account it shows on your other devices too.

Other small changes

- New messages on Home. The greeting now rotates through up to 10 different messages and tips.

- The Tester Guide is in the app. Go to Settings → Tester guide to open the latest version any time, instead of searching your messages for the PDF.

Using Square? A quick reminder

Crochet Studio sends the sale total to the Square Point of Sale app on the same phone or tablet, and Square takes the card. For it to work, that device needs:

1. The Square Point of Sale app (by Block, Inc.) installed. Being signed in to Square in a web browser doesn't count.
2. Square signed in, with your location chosen.
3. A way to take cards: a connected reader, or Tap to Pay if your phone supports it.

Make sure your country is right in Settings → Country & currency, and run the $1.00 test again (refund it in Square afterwards).

Please try

- [ ] Delete a test market (make one just for this)
- [ ] Tap + and − quickly on a product and check the count is right
- [ ] Open Reports, minimize a few sections, leave, and come back
- [ ] Give one product two tags and check its stock count is the same under both
- [ ] Open a tag on Products and use Add products to tag a few at once
- [ ] Download a report as a PDF or CSV and open it
- [ ] Open a pattern, switch to another screen, and come back to Patterns
- [ ] Put an "I stopped here" marker on a pattern, close it, then reopen it
- [ ] Check your country in Settings → Country & currency, and if you use Square, run the $1.00 test

Found something? Use Settings → Send feedback. It fills in your app version and device for you, and screenshots help a lot. Thank you for helping make this better! 💜
